9 Nov. 1967 - name trace on DRE in connection with Garrison Investigation.

① DRE conceived, directed & funded by CIA from Sept. 1960 - Dec. 1966.

Carlos Bringuier had no CIA contact but was New Orleans delegate of DRE. Bringuier did call CIA New Orleans Office on several occasions in 1967 to report Garrison's questioning of him.

DRE was an outgrowth of an activist student group in Cuba which fought against Batista & later Castro. After many of DRE members came to Miami, they were trained & infiltrated back into Cuba for intelligence purposes. After Bay of Pigs, DRE members were used as political action groups throughout the Western Hemisphere.

100 - 300 - 017 - Volume 1

Memo # 3 - 1 June 1967

DRE conceived, created & funded by Agency in 1960 & terminated in 1966. Outgrowth of activist student group in Cuba which fought against Batista & later Castro. Many leaders exiled in 1960, trained & infiltrated into Cuba by the Agency in 1960 where they operated through the Bay of Pigs invasion. Set up primarily as a psych warfare outfit, DRE also given large amount of paramilitary aid. After Apr. 1961, DRE engaged in independent operations on an increasing basis & contact with Agency gradually declined. This largely due to a cutback in Agency funding for Cuban anti-Castro organizations. After January 1965, Agency contact with DRE personnel was limited to Juan Manuel Salvat and Fernando Garcia Chacon.
